

Billing Problems Caused by QuickBooks Server Outage

You may have noticed that your invoice from Profit Gate did not come in your email as usual recently. Some of our clients may have noticed that their automated payment didn't happen on schedule.

Profit Gate uses QuickBooks, not only to do its accounting, but also to process client payments and send out invoices automatically each month. Normally, this is a very efficient system. But when it 'breaks', what a mess!

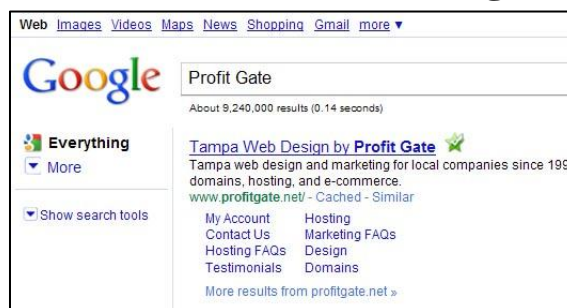

Last month, the servers at QuickBooks went offline for several days and created a real mess for us and thousands of other companies. Please bear with us. We are still sorting things out; manually going over each and every account.

Until all accounts are corrected, we will not issue any late fees and no websites are in any danger of being suspended. We appreciate your patience. If you have any questions about your billing, give us a call. Jana Anderson, Treas.

A Favorite Place on Google!

Profit Gate recently received a special letter from Google's Local Business Team. The letter said that since our website was found on Google 2,038 times last summer, we are now considered a "Favorite Place on Google".

They included a cool decal that you'll now see on our office window. But what's really cool is how we are shown in the Google listings. Notice in the screen shot (above) that there are now 8 pages of our website linked right under our usual listing.

Some of our clients have asked about how they can get listed this way. Well, the only sites that get this deluxe listing are those recognized by Google as getting lots of searches and clicks. You may have also noticed how some companies get listed on Google, next to a map of the local area. This is another part of the Local Business system, also now called; "Google Places". To find out more about how you might take advantage of this new system, give us a call.
